

World Habitat Awards 2024

world habitat awards

The World Habitat Awards recognise and highlight innovative, outstanding and sometimes revolutionary housing ideas, projects and programmes from across the world. Each year two winners receive £10,000 each and a trophy, presented at a global UN-Habitat event. The 2024 World Habitat Award winners were announced on 4 January 2024.

Stay tuned! Many of these initiatives will be featured as case studies on the use platform in the coming months.

Gold winners:

Housing Rights in Jakarta: Collective Action and Policy Advocacy

Empowering informal settlement communities to secure their right to housing through collective action and policy advocacy.

Energiesprong: Revolutionizing Home Retrofitting in the Netherlands

Achieving deep net-zero retrofitting of homes using innovative prefabricated panels and smart green technologies, reducing energy consumption by 70-80%.

Silver winners:

Government of Chile Rural Habitability Programme

Addressing critical housing needs in remote Chilean communities by building or renovating over 10,000 homes, improving the lives of over 40,000 people.

La Ciguë: Affordable Student Housing in Geneva

Providing affordable student housing in prime Geneva city center locations through a pioneering collaborative approach that extends the life vacant buildings.

Bronze winners:

CO-HATY Emergency Housing Project: Shelter for Internally Displaced People in Ukraine

Converting abandoned buildings into temporary accommodation for internally displaced people (IDPs) in Ukraine, offering a much-needed lifeline during a time of war and housing shortages.

DARAJA Weather Forecasting Service: Saving Lives in Informal Settlements in Kenya

Saving lives and protecting the property of informal settlement residents through reliable and accessible weather information and action for extreme weather events.

Nettelbeckplatz: Sustainable, Affordable, and Accessible Housing in Berlin

Transforming an ageing residential complex into a vibrant and sustainable community through resident participation, energy-efficiency, accessibility, and diversification of residents.

New Ground Cohousing Community in the UK

The UK's first group-living community for women aged 50+: A pioneering cohousing model that supports equity, community and collective well-being.

View a selection of previous winners of the World Habitat Awards on the use platform here.

Watch our use:positions interview with World Habitat CEO, David Ireland here.

Published on 10/01/2024